SKIPS OUT OF TOWN WITH SWEETHEART'S HARD EARNED CASH

WAITER AT MANHATTAN CAFE PROMISES MARY KNIEP HE WILL MARRY HER.

LEAVES TOWN WITH $175.
SHE TRUSTS HIM WITH

James Dailey Told Her He Would Go to S. D. and Marry Her—She Bought Him New Suit and Waited for Him at Appointed Time at the Depot—He Went East Three Hours Earlier.

Because she believed his protestations of love and proposals of marriage, Miss Mary Kniep, a dishwasher employed at the Manhattan restaurant, gave James Dailey, a night waiter at the same place, $175, her entire savings, paid for a new suit of clothes for him and prepared to go to South Dakota with him, according to his promises that they were to be married. But when Miss Kniep appeared at the depot to take the 8:47 o'clock westbound train last night, Dailey did not make his appearance and this morning, after investigation, which showed that the man had gone east on the 6:10 train last evening, the deceived young lady appealed to the police for assistance.

According to the story she told the officers, Dailey made love to her while they were both working in the restaurant, and finally proposed that they be married. Because of religious bans, which prevented their being married at once, Dailey proposed that they go to South Dakota to get married and make their home there. The girl agreed to the plan, and trustingly gave him her entire savings, amounting to $175. She also paid for a new tailor-made wedding suit and the couple agreed to meet at the Northwestern depot last night to board the 8:47 westbound train.

Dailey Makes Get-Away.

True to her love and believing absolutely in the man, Miss Kniep went to the depot alone, as had been arranged. But Dailey was not there, and the train came and departed without his making an appearance. The misguided woman waited for some time but finally returned to her rooming house, and this morning an investigation was instituted. It was discovered that the fellow had been around the city until nearly 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, as he had to wait until that time to get the new suit for which the girl had paid. It was afterward learned that he went east at 6:10 o'clock, and it is thought he is now in Chicago. The officers will look there for him, and if he is apprehended he will be dealt with to the full extent of the law.

Girl Has No Parents.

The Kniep girl has been a resident of Dixon for the past two years, coming here from Iowa. Her parents are dead, and the only relatives she has are sisters living near Walton. It is her hope to secure sufficient funds from sympathetic friends to go there to join them at once. She is almost prostrated with grief, and the base deceit of which she has been made a victim will always be a painful influence on her life.

Dailey, the perpetrator of the cruel hypocrisy, came to Dixon a short time ago from Clinton, and was given the position of night waiter at the Manhattan. He was a pleasant appearing fellow and made friends rapidly.

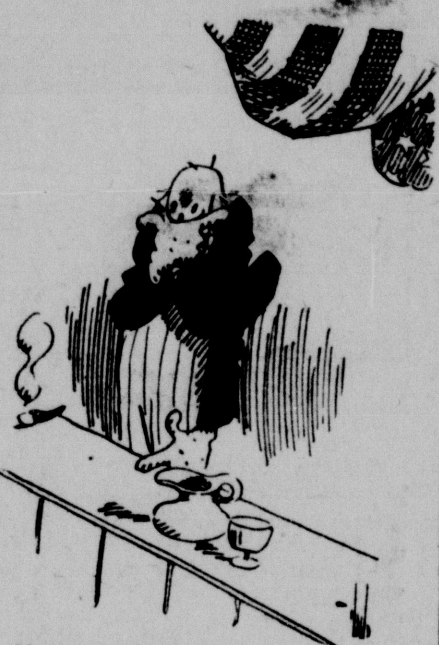

MISS GALE IMPROVES

Miss Carrie Gale, who has been very ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. Hattie E. Ritson in Sterling, is slowly improving. Miss Gale and Mrs. Ritson have many friends and relatives in Dixon.

FOOTBALL RALLY

A football rally will characterize the opening exercises at Dixon college tomorrow, to arouse enthusiasm in the game with Loyola, which will be played here Saturday afternoon, and Sec. E. T. Bailey of the Y. M. C. A. will address the students and players on "Three Necessary Points in Victory."

ABE MARTIN

Nature evens things up by giving the ugly girl most all of the enduring qualities. No matter how much experience costs it's just like a second hand pianer when you try to realize on it.

DIXON FOLKS IN FAR OFF TEXAS

A NEWSPAPER FROM BLESSING
MENTIONS NAMES WELL

We are in receipt of a copy of the Blessing, Tex., News, an annual fair number, which contains mention of several Dixon people, among them Prof. J. L. Hartwell, Miss Florence Plummer, Mrs. Edith W. Law and Geo. R. Woodruff.

Mr. Hartwell has a lengthy communication in the paper, dwelling on farming in Texas and Illinois, and another item tells of the Trespacios River Farming club which is to hold a meeting at the Hartwell home on Saturday, Nov. 16. Mr. Hartwell is president of the association. Miss Florence Plummer was down on the program to give a discussion on dairying.

WILL OPEN NEW

RESTAURANT SOON

Ankeny Brothers, who will conduct the Saratoga restaurant in the handsome rooms in the basement of the new Loftus & O'Connell building are installing their furniture and equipment and expect to be ready to open the establishment by the last of next week. The proprietors hope to have a grand opening one week from Saturday, at which time the handsome new eating house will be thrown open for the inspection of the public.

TO LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON.

John H. Byers, secretary to Congressman John C. McKenzie, is preparing to leave for Washington on the 30th of the month, for the coming session of congress.

ATTENDED MOTHER'S FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. George Toot went to Maquoketa, Ia., yesterday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Toot's mother, Mrs. Roberts, whose death at Aurora Monday was chronicled in the Telegraph.

A CORRECTION.

It was stated in the Telegraph last evening that George Brookner left for parts unknown some time ago, and that he has not been heard from since. His family informs us today, however, that he did not run away, simply went away, and that they know where he is. We hope no one has gained a wrong impression from the statement in last evening's Telegraph, for we intended to cast no reflections on the young man.

LICENSED TO WED

A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to Albert L. Jeandance of West Brooklyn and Miss Rose M. Hildren of Viola.

SERMON ON FUN.

Rev. Crissman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the third of his series of sermons on Amusements and Fun at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. These sermons have proven of decided interest and benefit and undoubtedly another large audience will greet the speaker the coming Sabbath evening.

ROCK FALLS IS AFTER THE I. N. U.

WATCH DOGS OF DOWN RIVER
TOWN PREPARES TO RE-PEL BOARDERS.

REFUSE COMPANY PERMISSION TO ENTER

Residents of Rock Falls Evidently Don't Believe in "New Fangled" Things—Town Constable Has to Stay Up All Day and All Night.

Sterling Gazette: Believing that the Public Utilities decided to enter Rock Falls and make connections with Russell Birdsall and Ward plant, the Rock Falls city council last evening at a special meeting instructed the city attorney to apply for an injunction restraining the company from making such connections, if necessary. However, there appears now to be no intention of connecting with the plant.

Ready to Plant Pole.

The Rock Falls aldermen watched the company string wires on the bridge and then dig a post hole on ground belonging to R. B. & W. This was a signal that something was doing. Mayor Thome of Rock Falls called a special council meeting last evening, and the council instructed the city attorney to stop proceedings by injunction, if necessary.

Revoke Tank Rights

Several weeks ago members of the council agreed to give the company right to place a big storage tank near the Rock Falls electric light plant. This permit was also revoked.

Eagle Eye on Company

The eagle eye of the city is on the Public Utilities, and there is every indication that Rock Falls will not, at least, for the time being, allow or permit the Utilities to enter that city. It is said that the order had been issued to string the wires from the bridge to the R. B. & W. plant, and that the order came from Dixon. But at present the company will not be allowed to carry out the orders.

DIXON MILK FACTORY INCREASES CAPACITY

CAN DEPARTMENT OF LOCAL PLANT WILL SUPPLY CANS TO MONROE, STERLING AND ST.
CHARLES PLANTS.

The Dixon factory of the Borden Condensed Milk company will hereafter supply the St. Charles factory of the company with cans, orders to that effect having been recently received by the officers. The new order means that the can-making department of the local plant will in future be running to full capacity, as the Dixon factory is now supplying the Monroe and Sterling plants with their cans. The St. Charles plant has heretofore manufactured its own cans, but that department will now be closed.

CELEBRATION SALE.

Ed. Zoeller has completed the removal of his novelty store stock from Dementtown to his new location in the Bardwell building on West First street, and will open there Saturday morning. Because of his increased stock, and the removal to the downtown quarters, Mr. Zoeller has announced a big Celebration sale, when everything in his store will be sold at reduced prices. Particulars of this sale will be found in his ad in the Telegraph.

BOYS' BIBLE CLASSES.

Two bible classes for boys will be organized at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning. One of the classes, which will meet at 9:15 o'clock, will be instructed by Physical Director Charles Webster, while Dr. Bradshaw, pastor of the Baptist church, will conduct the other, which meets at 10:30.

Wm. Anderson of Ohio Station was here today.

HAS PLAN FOR THE SAVING OF FISH

FISH WARDEN SAYS THE SMALL
SMALL POCKETS AND SLOUGHS ARE DEATH TRAPS.

WANTS THEM SEINED EACH FALL

Fish Enter During High Water and Are Imprisoned, to Be Frozen—Asks Co-operation of Local Fish Club in the Work.

Fish Warden W. E. Orr of Aurora, who spent the day here in conference with officials of the Fish club, has a scheme for saving the lives of many fish along Rock river, which he will ask the local club, in conjunction with others, to help him bring to a reality through the next legislature. Mr. Orr's scheme has to do with the clearing of the pockets and swamps along the river in the fall, before the river freezes each year.

According to Mr. Orr, he has found in his experience as fish warden that every winter thousands of fish are frozen in the pockets and swamps. They go there to spawn in the spring when the streams are up and are left landlocked in ponds of stagnant water. Many of them die in this stale water during the hot weather and those that survive are frozen during the winter.

Found Two Carloads

Mr. Orr states that last spring he investigated many of these pockets and ponds and found at least two carloads of dead fish, many bass, pike and pickerel in one small slough. He also tells of a fish club near Galena taking it upon themselves to clean out the pockets late last fall, putting the fish in the deep, live water, and says that undoubtedly they saved thousands of fish to spawn and multiply the next season.

Mr. Orr pointed out that west of this city such conditions exist and he is certain that Rock river would be much more plentiful with the fishy tribe next year if the course was followed by the local fish club. He will endeavor to interest them in the proposition and if he can succeed in getting their co-operation will return to Dixon and assist in the undertaking.

Next spring he hopes to interest the state legislature to the extent of having a small appropriation made to conduct the work every fall, for he says every pocket in the state could be seined every fall and the fish put in the main streams and they would live and thrive, thus helping in the maintenance of the sport. In Mr. Orr's opinion this feature is of more importance than the hatcheries, and if carried out would do more to multiply the fish in the rivers than the hatcheries.

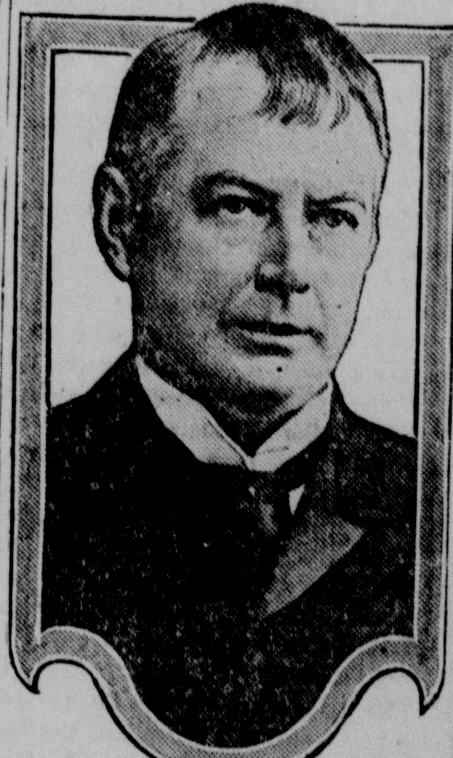

Y. M. C. A. BOYS WILL BANQUET

THE FIRST ANNUAL AFFAIR FOR INTERMEDIATES AND JUNIORS.

The first annual banquet for the Juniors and intermediates of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the association building Saturday at 6 p. m., and a most enjoyable affair has been arranged for the young fellows, in whom the association is taking such an active interest. A number of young ladies have been secured to wait on the boys, and the following menu, which will certainly appeal to Young America, has been prepared: Chicken a la Maryland, mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, pickles, jelly, buns, cocoa, ice cream and cake. Following the "eats" a number of short talks will be made by prominent business men and it is also planned to have one or two of the boys make short talks.

Harry Holt was in Sterling and Rock Falls today on business. W. C. Schafer of Ashton was here today.

Mr. Burlison, who represents the Tenth district of Texas in congress, has been mentioned for a cabinet position under Woodrow Wilson and already has announced that he wishes to be secretary of agriculture. Four years hence, he says, he plans to be elected governor of Texas.

FORMER RESIDENT HAS PASSED AWAY

JAMES DUFFY DIED AT SON'S
HOME LAST NIGHT—FUN-ERAL HERE.

Word was received here this morning of the death of James Duffy, a former Dixonite, at the home of his son Timothy Duffy, Chicago at 11 o'clock last night. No particulars of the cause of Mr. Duffy's death were given, although he is said to have died of apoplexy.

The remains will be brought to Dixon on the Sterling passenger this evening and taken to the Jones & Slain undertaking rooms. The funeral will occur Friday at 10 a. m. from St. Patrick's church, Father Foley officiating at the ceremonies.

Mr. Duffy, who had no close relatives other than his son in Chicago, was 76 years of age. He was a resident of Dixon for sixty years, and has many friends here who are grieved to hear of his death. For many years Mr. Duffy was proprietor of the Northwestern Hotel in Dementtown. He had been living in Chicago for several years when he died.

OTTOMAN ENVOY NOW SEEKS PEACE

Porte Acts Owing to Powers'
Attitude on Mediation Proposal.

FIGHTING AT TCHATALJA ENDS

Bulgarian General to Hear Proposals
From Nazim Pasha That May
Bring Peace in Balkan War—
Europe Is Hopeful.

Athens, Nov. 14.—Six thousand women and children, 25 men and two priests have been massacred near Janina by 750 men of the Turkish infantry and 300 Bash-Bazouks, who pillaged and set fire to many villages.

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—It is reported here that the Bulgarian envoy is in the city and negotiations for an armistice from this end of the line is now in progress.

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—It was officially announced here that the Ottoman government has taken up direct negotiations with the Bulgars for an armistice. Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, has received instructions to open communications with the Bulgarian officers on the field and an envoy is on his way to the Bulgarian headquarters beyond the Tchatalja line of forts.

Accepting the advice of Russia, the porte instructed Nazim Pasha to ask for an armistice of eight days, pending the opening of direct negotiations.

The porte resolved upon this course because the powers showed a disinclination to take up the mediation proposal, and upon the advice of the St. Petersburg government.

In the last 48 hours, according to advices received here, there has been no fighting on the Tchatalja lines.

A factor which probably has contributed to upset the Bulgarian plans is the outbreak of cholera.

Hostilities to Cease.

London, Nov. 14.—The News and Leader has received the following from its special correspondent, Charles Tower:

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—The director of transport informed inquirers at the war office that a cessation of hostilities had been arranged for, looking to peace. Simultaneously another official summoned the chief contractors for supplies, including military foodstuffs, forage, etc., and informed them that hostilities would cease at once.

Seek Best Terms Possible.

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—(By wireless from steamship Dacia in the Black sea.)—Beaten and demoralized without hope of reorganization in time to make an effective stand against the enemy, the Turks recognize the futility of further resistance.

Nazim Pasha, the commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces, has informed the grand vizier that the Turkish army is both unable and unwilling to fight, and he suggests that the only course left is to make the best possible terms with the Balkan allies by direct negotiations which should be opened with the Bulgarians.

As a basis of the proposals for an armistice, Turkey is ready to abandon Tchatalja provided that the Bulgarians will undertake not to enter the capital.

Powers Feel Hopeful of Peace.

London, Nov. 14.—A much more hopeful feeling prevailed here in regard to the international situation created by the Balkan war. The situation is still full of difficulties, but the attitude of all the powers in working for a peaceful settlement will, it is believed, result in avoiding an actual conflict.

The Russian government, acting in direct disregard of public feeling in Russia, has notified the Servian minister at St. Petersburg that Russia will not go to war over the question of an Adriatic port.

The Russian foreign minister, Sergius Sazonov, at the same time informed the Servian minister that Russia would give friendly support to Servia in her negotiations with Austria-Hungary.

PUBLIC HEARING TOMORROW

The board of local improvements will meet at the city hall tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. to hold a public hearing on the proposed pavement of Third street from Galena avenue west to Douglas avenue. There is considerable difference of opinion on the part of the property owners as to the width the street should be made, and therefore the meeting will be of interest.

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS MEET

The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. will hold an important meeting this evening at the home of Sec. and Mrs. E. T. Bailey, where they will be entertained at dinner.

Mrs. Missioner's Visitor.

Mrs. Missioner, after the ball, took in the tag-end of a bridge party, and stayed so late that when she returned to her home the east was striped with dawn, and the maid who had waited up for her was sleeping soundly in a chair. The widow was not yet disposed for slumber. It had been an exciting night. Her fancy had been stimulated so greatly by her brief talk with the Swami in the ballroom that she was unable to turn it from the mysterious Oriental history of the Maharane diamond. She knew no more of the jewel's past than she had related to the sage, for her husband had not acquainted her with all the details connected with his acquisition of it. Something in the Swami's manner caused her to regard the stone with more or less aversion. She began to doubt the purity of its record. Fond though she was of gems, even to the point of being a jewel worshiper, she was American to her fingertips, and would shrink in terror from any baffle that came to her stained with the taintest drop of human blood. She had loved her husband in a way; at any rate, she had always respected and admired him. It seemed impossible he would be a party to wrongdoing. Yet she could not shake off a sensation of dread whenever she remembered how intimately the jewel had nestled in the snows of her throat, and rivaled the brightness of her eyes. Could it be she had worn a gem whose fire was more suited to the glow of an inferno than to the Eden of a good woman's loveliness?

Drawing about her shoulders a soft, warm shawl, she took a seat at a window in her boudoir and sat gazing into a sky pink and gray with daybreak, trying to solve her real feelings in regard to the recovery of the Maharane diamond. She was in the midst of her meditation when she heard the faint ringing of a bell at the other end of her big house. In a little while, a footman rapped on the door of her boudoir. It awakened her maid, and the girl, her eyes swollen with sleep, approached the widow with a card bearing no name, but inscribed with the message:

"It is important that I be permitted to see you at once."

At such an hour? Mrs. Missioner was astonished by the request. Who could her early visitor be? Surely no one in her own circle of acquaintances would venture upon such a liberty. If it were a question of life or death, there was still the telephone. Secrecy was indicated by the attempt of the person to see her face to face. Hastily she opened the door, and the scholar's scrawl. Mrs. Missioner was not ultraconventional, but the request for an interview at that time of day—an hour that almost might be called a time of night—was beyond the scope of even her liberal views. However, curiosity conquered, as it has been doing in the cases of women, jewels, and apples since the world began, and she informed her maid she would see the visitor in the library.

She controlled her eagerness for understanding of the request, nevertheless, so well that when in a leisurely way she reached the big room on the main floor, the visitor was already within it. He stood at a window looking into a street and shielding himself behind a curtain from chance glances. As his head was bare, it was not until the second glance that she recognized the Swami. She was not only astonished, but startled by the recognition. What could this mysterious student of the occult want with her? What could possibly be the object of his visit to her home at such an hour? He was an old acquaintance in a sense, but one Mrs. Missioner had not cultivated in this part of the world.

He waited until she was close to the hearth before he turned, and said with a profound bow:

"Madam, my intrusion is excused by the fact that I can restore your jewels."

"Is it possible?" she exclaimed.

"It is more than possible. It is a fact accomplished," he answered. Taking from an inner pocket a package in silk tissue, he extended it toward her with the words:

"You will find in this parcel, madam, all the diamonds of your necklace, with the exception of the largest—the Maharane diamond."

"But the big diamond of the whole necklace—the Maharane diamond?" cried Mrs. Missioner. "How did you find these and not find that?"

"I have not said that I did not recover it," said the Swami. "On the contrary, I confess to you that I gained possession of the Maharane diamond at the time when I got these; but I must not, cannot, be restored to you."

"I am grateful for what you have done," the widow said gently; "but I am unable to understand your attitude in regard to the missing stone. Why should I not have that, too? It is mine."

"Madam," said the Oriental, in the courtliest way, "I would not for the world say anything to disturb your faith in your husband. There is no need of doing so. Your faith is warranted. Mrs. Missioner, when he said that, thought he was telling the truth."

jewel to your husband did not buy it from a Maharane. He did not buy it from anyone. He stole it!"

"Stole it!" the widow cried, with a little wail in her voice. "Impossible!"

"Pardon me once more, madam. It is so far from being impossible that it is the strict truth. Nor was the theft the only crime of which the man was guilty. In stealing that jewel, he committed a dreadful sacrilege."

Mrs. Missioner was so overcome by her emotions that she was obliged, in spite of her intention, to sit down, and therefore to extend to her visitor an invitation to be seated also, before she could get herself well enough in hand to follow the Swami's narrative calmly.

"That diamond," continued the sage, "once blazed in the forehead of the great Buddha, in the Temple of Delhi. It was revered by thousands, hundreds of thousands, by millions, as the most sacred work of the god; for tradition says it was the undisputed property of Buddha himself when he walked the earth in his latest incarnation."

Mrs. Missioner's lips were parted. Her eyes were fixed upon the Oriental in the intensity of her interest. "One night," the sage went on, "when a band of militant priests assigned to guard the shrine of Buddha in the great Delhi temple relaxed its vigilance, a sacrilegious wretch—on whose head be all the curses of all the centuries!—made his way into the heart of the sacred building, and wrested the diamond from the brow of the god. That day was not blasted in his tracks by the burning of divine wrath proves that the mind of the god at that moment was clouded in meditation for the benefit of his children. The stone was taken at dawn. Within the hour, armed men were scouring the city for the impostor thief. No trace of him was found. The Maharajah of that kingdom, although he had been in a state of servitude of the faith, was too loyal a son of the Temple to let the priests go unpunished. By his order they were seized, a hundred of them, and thrown into prison. A royal decree was promulgated, the effect of which is that none of those unhappy captives is to see the light of day until the diamond is returned to its place in Buddha's forehead. The temple was draped in the mourning colors of the east, and those colors still deck its lonely walls. No true believer's foot may be seen within its portals while the great stone is missing. The brethren of the priesthood languish in dungeons, hoping against hope that Buddha may manifest his mercy by causing the gem to be regained and replaced upon his brow. Untended, unworshipped, the god sits upon his throne within the shrine, waiting for the restoration of his own."

Mrs. Missioner was thrilled by the narrative. She was somewhat at a loss, however, to account for the depth of the Swami's interest in the capture of the great diamond. Until he unfolded his story further, she did not know how personal that interest was. "How does this affect you?" she asked. "Why should you be at such pains to find and restore the diamond? And to return these other stones to me?"

"You will need no further explanation, madam," said the scholar, with utmost courtesy, "when I tell you that the priests who lie in that Eastern prison are my brethren."

"But how is it you are not among them?"

"By a special dispensation of mercy on the part of the Maharajah," he answered. "When five years, as you count them, had flown and still the diamond was missing—when all the other servants of the kingdom had searched India, the rest of the Orient, and even Europe for it, His Majesty relented far enough to direct that the imprisoned priests choose one of their number to girdle the earth in quest of the stone. I, being the youngest of the priesthood, was selected for the task. For the priests themselves, though prisoners of woe, are more concerned to have the stain wiped out than to return to the world from which they have been exiled. They chose the youngest that the searcher might have as long a time as nature permitted to carry out the quest."

The Swami paused an instant, and then continued:

"So you see that not only do a hundred human lives hang upon the return of that single jewel to the place whence it was stolen, but that the faith, the religion, the very hope of eternity of millions of persons, are equally dependent upon it. Until the gem gleams again in Buddha's brow, no prayer for redemption can be breathed with any hope of response in the most remote part of the Maharajah's kingdom. Can you wonder that I would sell life itself to achieve this task?"

Mrs. Missioner did not wonder. She clasped between her hands the packet containing the other stones of her necklace, and gazed dreamily into the fire.

"What is it, then, you wish?" she asked. "What can I do for you? Is it a question of a reward?"

Two weeks until Thanksgiving, and not a word have we heard of a shortage of turkeys.

Still, whether you are going to have turkey or not, it is time you were commencing to figure out and classify the many things you can be thankful for.

There is one man in Dixon who has been complaining most vehemently because his name has never appeared in this col. In order that his disappointment may come to an end, and that he may cease to be pestered with an honor which evidently bothers him greatly, we hereby print his name:

BILL COSEY.

Returning to the question of thanks, P. O. Sullivan will probably give thanks that Gus Schweinsberg changed his mind last night. Someone had invited P. O. to have something and he accepted the invitation with the statement that he would take what the boss did. His smile vanished immediately, however, when Mr. Schweinsberg answered that he would take nothing. Later it was discovered that P. O. got his, so it can safely be stated that Gus had changed his mind.

Appropos our recent dissertation on a near tragedy in Trein's jewelry store we have received a number of inquiries, among them:

If Mr. Trein gave a ball, would Bracelet the Silverware a Diamond Ring?

Another: If Mr. Trein's largest diamond weighs seven karats, how much does Eva Tangway?

Fresh Kid.

A new office boy in a Dixon establishment recently answered the telephone with: Hello, who's there?

The answer came back: I'm one hundred and five.

To which the kid replied: If that's so, it's time you were dead.

His Congratulation.

Circuit Clerk W. B. McMahon has a letter of congratulation on his recent re-election to the office, which reads thusly:

Congratulations. You did remarkably well considering that you were chased by a Rabbit and a Bull Moose.

Dramatic Notes

OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT.

"The Light Eternal," a serious, thoughtful play, handsomely costumed, worthily presented and staged with a richness and artistic judgment seldom equaled, will be presented at the opera house tonight. It is a serious though stirring drama, carried to a conclusion relentlessly tragic, serving, like its exemplars, Hen Hur, and The Sign of the Cross, to illustrate the devotion of the early Christian martyrs. It does not aim to gratify the morbid either by the gruesome presentations of torture as in The Sign of the Cross, or by the seductive pictures of Bacchanalian revelry as in Quo Vadis. Its inspiration is found in clean and decent dramatic plot and its appeal extends alike to all classes that find interest in the truthful and convincing historical spectacle heightened by a master touch of human interest.

MAJESTIC THEATRE — CHICAGO

On the bill of the Majestic theatre, Chicago, for the week of November 18th, appears as the bright particular star the name of one of the most famous women in the world. This is Lily Langtry, who now bears the title of Lady De Batne, and who is the most famous beauty and one of the most interesting personalities of the present day. Mrs. Langtry comes with her excellent company to play a comedy from her own pen entitled "Helping the Cause," which is considered a very clever skit on Women's Suffrage. Not only her reputation as a beauty which, in spite of her advancing years is still undimmed, but her remarkable career in the highest social circles in England and her success as a dramatic artist have combined to give her a most unique position in the stage history of the world.

In addition to Mrs. Langtry the bill will include one of the best vaudeville features to be secured in this country, one of them being Walter C. Kelly, the famous Virginia judge, a monologist whose name and fame are known around the world.

Paul Sandoz's burlesque circus is another of the big acts, in which burlesque and ventriloquism are very happily combined. Milo Belden & Co. will play a comedy sketch; and Blanch Mehaffey, who has gained a great reputation in connection with the big bands, will present a high class singing act in conjunction with Herbert Cyril; Lew Brice & Lillian Gonne have a talking, singing and dancing act; Miller & Mack are noted dancing duo, and the Flying Weavers are among the most entertaining of the aerial acrobats.

PRINCESS THEATRE — CHICAGO

"Bought and Paid For," the vital and appealing drama by George Broadhurst which Wm. A. Brady has placed in the Princess theatre of Chicago for an unlimited run, is attracting more attention than any other theatrical production now in that city. It entertains and it thrills, according to the testimony of every dramatic critic in Chicago. More than that, it is receiving clerical endorsement because of the healthful moral tone of its story and strength of the theme with which it deals.

Dr. Arthur J. Francis, minister of the Plymouth Congregational church of Chicago, has written to the management of Bought and Paid For as follows:

"It was my good fortune a few evenings ago to attend the Princess theatre and witness the performance of 'Bought and Paid For.' I wish to congratulate the players for the excellent way in which they symbolized a strong lesson. It would be well indeed if every husband and every husband-to-be in Chicago or wherever the play is given, would attend and thoroughly ponder over the moral involved. It is a good glad day which sees such effort on the part of theatrical managers. I hope I may have the privilege of attending many such plays in the future."

Seats may be reserved at the Princess two weeks in advance, and for any holiday performance up to and including New Years. Matinee performances are given on Thursdays and Saturdays, with special matinees announced for Thanksgiving day, Christmas day and New Years day.

OLYMPIC THEATRE—CHICAGO

Chicago's biggest theatrical opening in years, measured by box office receipts, was the record established by Henry W. Savage's world famous laughing success, "The Million," at the Olympic theatre, Chicago, last Sunday evening. Fully 2,000 persons were turned away after the entire spacious house had been sold out.

The mighty demonstration of public approval was Chicago's first tribute to the joyful production that made New York shake with laughter during an entire season, after having held the boards to enormous patronage for two years in Paris, one year in Vienna and two years in Berlin.

Chicago newspapers were lavish in their praises, the consensus of opinion being that The Million was positively funnier than Hoyt's farces or such modern delights as Seven Days; Baby Mine, and Excuse Me. Amy Leslie, the eminent critic of the Daily News, devoted two columns to golden praise, ending her eulogy with the following sparkling endorsement:

"It's a bear, 'The Million.'"

SEA TRAGEDY FEARED

Ship Sails From Port and Disappears Entirely.

Body of Captain Found Floating Near Coast Indicates Loss of Vessel and All on Board.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 14.—Meager details from Egansville, Ont., some 70 miles from here, indicate a bad marine tragedy. An old-time steamer, The Mayflower, left Barrys Bay, near Egansville, and should have reached Egansville at night, but has not been seen since.

The body of the captain, named Parthier, of Cumbermere, has been found floating in the water near here, and it is feared that the vessel has blown up and the twelve on board lost, as there have been no signs of the vessel since, and the finding of the captain's body is a sure indication of something unusual having occurred. Those on the vessel included three or four Ottawa commercial travelers.

Three searching parties have been out and a fourth is now out. On board also was the corpse of a man named Brown. Four were Ottawans and the balance of the passengers belonged to Cumbermere and vicinity. It is thought now that something went wrong with the machinery or that the vessel struck a rock.

Details are meager and there is no intimation here of the finding of wreckage.

A sensational spurt of 85 when the boy wonder appeared to have him hopelessly beaten, enabled the Oriental to win by a score of 500 to 497. Ora Morningstar defeated Calvin Demarest in another thrilling match by the score of 500 to 423.

Women Eligible as Operators.

In the new regulations issued by the department of commerce and labor, appears the following: "Women are eligible as applicants for licenses of any class or grade upon the same conditions as men."

NOVEL DEFENSE REVEALS DANGER

IF LAND COMPANY'S PLEA IS SUSTAINED MANY WOULD SUFFER.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Corporations not licensed to do business in Illinois could laugh at their creditors if a novel defense made in a Chicago trial should have judicial approval, and as a result the "outlaw" concern would have the advantage of those that are licensed. The defense was that the defendant corporation, although it has been doing business amounting to millions of dollars, with citizens of Illinois and other states, could not be sued for an admitted debt if it had failed to secure a license to do business in the state. There are thousands of foreign corporations doing business in Illinois, many without licenses, any of whom could take advantage of the technical immunity boldly pleaded by one of them, should the Illinois law relating to foreign corporations prove to be a bar to the enforcement of contracts and debts. The defense was raised in a suit brought by C. P. Ross to recover on a contract with a Florida land company, the New South Farm and Home Company. The suit relates to a loan made by the Assets Realization Company to the land company of $100,000 which incidentally disclosed the fact that $15,000 bonus was paid for the loan in addition to commissions for which the plaintiff is suing. Judge Moran pointed the widespread effect if foreign corporations were immune from responsibility to their creditors if they fail to secure a license to do business in the state. The attorneys for the plaintiff argued that citizens would be at the mercy of corporations if they chose to risk the penalties of the law for failure to secure a license. This is said to be the first case where this defense has been raised in this way. The defendant company holds the contracts by thousands of land purchasers.

OF USE TO THE TRAVELER

Little Workbox That May Be Said to Be Almost an Indispensable Adjunct.

Men who travel much frequently find themselves without the possibility of help when such a little disaster happens as the losing of a button, and as often as not the necessary articles wherewith to remedy the defect are absent. Under these circumstances a small case fitted up in the manner shown in our sketch will prove a most acceptable gift to any man who may be called upon to do a little needlework for himself.

It can be made with any small cardboard box of a suitable size, and if the lid is not already hinged on it should be fastened on by pasting a piece of broad tape across the back. The front of the box should be cut out and hinged on at the lower edge in the same manner, and the whole box can then be neatly covered with silk or linen. A piece of wire is run through the front part of the box, and the ends bent upward and cut off with a pair of snippers. On this wire are suspended two reels of cotton—one black, the other white, so that they will revolve freely as the cotton is drawn from them. Directly behind the reels a small cardboard partition is fixed across, making little compartments for various kinds of buttons, tape, etc. On the inner side of the lid two straps are sewn, one for a thumb and the other for a pair of scissors. On the front of the box, which falls forward in the way illustrated when the lid is raised, two small pockets are arranged, in which packets of needles may find a place. A small pin cushion and a needlebook with flannel leaves, some black and brown boot buttons and shoe laces might also be stowed away at the back, and would no doubt come in useful.

GARMENTS IN DAYS OF RAIN

Question of Material Just Now Is One of the Very Greatest Importance.

At this season of the year the selection of the "dressier" coats and suits is one limited only by the purse or taste of the buyer, and the most serious question confronting the average man or woman along the subject of "clothes" is what to buy that will be good looking and yet be serviceable in both rainy or sunny weather. The "cravanette" answers all requirements and is suitable for every occasion where a rain repellent garment is desired.

The secret of the popularity of this material is that its appearance never indicates that it is a waterproof fabric, but when wearing it in a storm its rain-proof qualities are quickly appreciated.

For auto wear, riding habits, costumes for outdoor sports and for chauffeurs' outfits this cloth is admirable, as it comes in three weights and in various shades and weaves.

Fashion's Fancies

Check patterns are coming quickly to the fore as blouse materials.

Imitation furs are taking the place of the expensive peltry. These fur cloths form little vests, cuffs and collars on jackets.

Velvets, corduroys and velveteens are important for afternoon suits, and the corded effects seem to be most generally used in costumes.

Muffs will be of more mammoth size than ever this winter. The furriers have seen to that. They are also desperately concerned in working up original little fittings for the neck in the guise of high stocks.

Materials are, as a rule, supple, soft and wide. The tones are soft and neutral, allowing for the introduction of the color note by means of the vests, girdles, velvet collars and ornaments so much in vogue.

Stunning jackets of Scotch knitted goods for the cool autumn days will appeal to the woman who enjoys a cross-country tramp. Made in the Norfolk style and resembling a heavy cloth in texture, they are decidedly good looking.

Soft New Porcelains.

Have you seen the fascinating Danish porcelains in soft gray and white that are being shown in interesting vases, candlesticks and fruit bowls?

One attractive piece that could do duty for flowers or fruit is a Danish peasant girl in her native costume, with quaint cap and sabots. Her frock is gray, her apron, cap and sabots white. She leans gracefully forward, apparently walking, and drapes beside her great baskets, each fully six inches in diameter, of plaited gray and white porcelain.

Besides the beauty of this vase, it permits delightful effects with short stemmed flowers, and is especially graceful as a center piece filled with purple and white grapes, or blue plums and green gages.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS

CHICAGO MAN IS DROWNED

Body of John E. Grunnett Discovered in Launch Full of Water—Companion Missing Believed Dead.

Peoria, Nov. 14.—The body of John E. Grunnett of 7944 Bond avenue, Chicago, was found in a launch filled with water, four miles north of Chillicothe, by two hunters from this city. Earnest Sanders, 2929 East Seventy-eighth street, Chicago, a companion of the dead man, is missing, and it is feared his body is in the Illinois river. Grunnett and Sanders, with another Chicagoan, have been camping near Chillicothe for about two weeks. They went to Lacon, a small town upstream, for groceries, and it is supposed they met with the accident while returning. They were in a launch equipped with air chambers in each end, which allowed the craft to float even though it was filled with water.

With Plummer, wanted for horse stealing, as his prisoner, Morris was driving along a country road when a rabbit jumped out of the brush and ran into a tile. Morris brought his horses to a stop and ordered Plummer to crawl into the tile after the game. The prisoner, coaxed with a revolver, got the rabbit.

We have picked certain dealers to sell Zephyr Flour, because each has a reputation for handling only the best Zephyr Flour has won a reputation in thousands of homes for the lighter, whiter bread it bakes, the flakier biscuit, the more tender cake it makes. To protect this reputation we have made it an iron-clad rule to place the agency for this flour with those grocers only who handle the highest quality of food products.

Zephyr Flour

is made from the best of Kansas hard wheat. This wheat is rich in food value. We wash it and grind it with the greatest care to preserve this goodness. We sell it with a flat guarantee to give satisfaction or money back. Every Zephyr Flour grocer is instructed to refund the purchase price on request.

Our chemist's certificate is in each sack of Zephyr Flour—thus assuring that both the wheat and flour have passed our rigid quality test and that every sack is uniform. Should you be dissatisfied, the certificate is good for a free sack.

FIFTEEN KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Monon Passenger Crashes Into Freight on Siding Through Open Switch.

BRAKEMAN TAKES THE BLAME

Father Only Survivor Out of Family of Five, and He Is in a Hospital in a Serious Condition—Wreckage Catches Fire.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—Fifteen persons were killed and 14 more seriously injured when Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton passenger train No. 36 struck an open switch and crashed head on into a freight train at Arlington avenue, Irvington, a suburb of this city. The passenger train was an hour late and was said to be making 40 miles an hour when the collision came.

"I and some others are to blame," said Carl Gross of this city, head brakeman on the freight train. "I left the switch open and expected one of the other brakemen to close it. The switch was not closed, the wreck occurred and I am to blame."

Gross did not mention any names in connection with his statement.

Roster of the Dead.

The dead are: Albert Allen, Los Angeles, Cal.; C. Burg, fireman of passenger train, Indianapolis; Ben Boyle, had ticket for Chicago; John Chaney, Jackson, Ky.; Mrs. Clifton Chaney, Jackson, Ky.; Chester Chaney, five months old, Jackson, Ky.; Willie Chaney, five years old, Jackson, Ky.; Lily Chaney, two years old, Jackson, Ky.; C. F. Grundhafer, 4440 Darrow avenue, Cincinnati; C. Imholt, actor, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. C. Imholt, actress, Los Angeles, Cal.; Joseph L. Palmer, Etawah, Ind.; William Sharkey, engineer passenger train, Indianapolis; Earl Wiggins, conductor of passenger train, Indianapolis; Bert White, brakeman on freight train, Indianapolis.

Some of the Injured.

Among the injured are: Clifton Chaney, Jackson, Ky., injured about body; F. E. Emberton, fireman freight train, Indianapolis, bruised about the body; W. J. Filer, Liberty, Ind.; A. C. Filer, Liberty, Ind.; Carl Gross, Indianapolis, head brakeman on freight train, leg broken; Fred Hutchinson, fireman of passenger train, badly scalded; J. W. Jefferson, porter, Chicago; Burton Jones, mail clerk, Dayton, Ky.; Hugh Kemp, Berlin, Ky.; Mrs. Mary Sears, 2927 Indiana avenue, Chicago; Harry Sell, 2437 Indiana avenue, Chicago; J. C. Skillman, baggage man on passenger train, legs broken; Mrs. J. C. Skillman, wife of the baggage man, Indianapolis; A. York, engineer freight train; injured in jumping.

Fifteen seriously injured were taken to the Deaconess hospital in this city.

Out of a family of six, the Chaneyes of Jackson, Ky., on the train, only one was saved, and he, Clifton Chaney, is at Deaconess hospital badly injured. His father, wife and three children were among the killed. They were on their way to a logging camp in Wisconsin.

Wreck Catches Fire.

The wreck caught fire, but was put out before any damage was done. Most of the dead were found in the wreckage of the first car, which telescoped the baggage car.

Firemen and police worked at the wreck two hours before the first body was found. Holes were chopped in the tops of the cars, and the injured supplied with water, for which they cried pitifully.

The passenger train is reported to have had a clear track, but the brakeman on the freight is said not to have closed the switch when his train had cleared the main track.

The two engines were almost completely telescoped.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

TO APPOINT SHERMAN

Deneen Reported Ready to Name Lorimer's Successor.

Governor Has Legal Right in Premises—Long Deadlock Feared in Coming Illinois Legislature.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Governor Deneen will appoint Lawrence Y. Sherman
United States senator to fill the Lorimer vacancy, according to information that is considered entirely trustworthy.

The governor is known to be considering the proposition. Republican leaders who are supposed to possess the governor's confidence asserted here that they believed the appointment would be made within a fortnight.

That the governor has the legal right to make the appointment is not disputed by the constitutional authorities who have considered carefully the action of the United States senate in relinquishing Mr. Lorimer.

Should Governor Deneen name Mr.
Sherman, and should the legislature develop an unbreakable deadlock, Mr.
Sherman would continue to serve in the senate until his successor was elected and had qualified.

It is reported that Mr. Sherman, in the event of his appointment at this time, would submit his cause to the people, two years hence, and will contest
the primary election in Illinois with Mr.
Lorimer, who, if his health permits, intends to enter the primary contest for the popular endorsement and election to the senate in 1915.

Republican leaders close to Governor Deneen, believe that the governor, in view of the confusion that exists in the state with respect to the general assembly, will appoint Mr. Sherman to the senate before December 1, in order that he may qualify for the closing session of congress of the Taft administration.

PARLIAMENT HAS RIOT

Asquith Called Traitor During Wild Scenes in House.

Winston Churchill Smashed in Face
by Heavy Book—Home Rule
Wins Big Victory.

London, Nov. 14.—As the house of commons was peremptorily adjourned here after scenes of wild confusion following the attempt of Premier Asquith to rescind the vote taken last Monday on an amendment to the home rule bill by which the government sustained a defeat, a book thrown by one of the opposition members struck Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, full in the face. Mr. Churchill was slightly stunned but otherwise unhurt, although the force of the blow left a spot on his cheek.

It was perhaps the stormiest session the house has ever known. From the moment the premier made his motion to rescind the vote, the uproar continued almost uninterruptedly. Liberal speakers were shouted down by the Unionists; Premier Asquith was denounced as a traitor; the government was declared to smell in the nostrils of financial London and several members were ordered from the house when the unparliamentary language grew particularly violent.

The uproar far exceeded that which stifled Premier Asquith's speech when he introduced the home rule bill, and has not been equaled since the free fight over Gladstone's first home rule measure. The ministers were taunted with such epithets as "traitors" and "apes." Sir William Bull, Unionist for Hammersmith, was ordered from the floor for repeatedly calling Mr. Asquith a "traitor."

FIXES CANAL TARIFFS

Taft, in Proclamation, Gives Tolls Through Panama.

Merchant Vessels Taxed $1.20 Per Ton
—United States Coastwise Ships
Pass Free.

Washington, Nov. 14.—In a proclamation issued here President Taft fixed the rates that the foreign shipping world shall pay for passage through the Panama canal. The proclamation establishes a merchant vessel rate of $1.20 per ton net of actual carrying capacity and provides for a reduction of 40 per cent. on ships in ballast.

Upon naval vessels other than transports, colliers, hospital ships and supply ships, 50 cents per displacement ton is required.

Upon army and navy transports, colliers, hospital ships and supply ships $1.20 per ton, the vessels to be measured by the same rules as are employed in determining the net tonnage of merchant vessels.

The rules for the measurement of vessels and other regulations are to be announced later by the secretary of war.

American coastwise shipping was exempt from toll payment by congress.

The rates named by the president are practically the same as those which will be in force at the Suez canal next year.
